

Hello, dear children! How are you today? Today is the __ of December. Today our theme: booking tickets for a performance.

Open your books p 48.

2 5.4.2.1 The sentences below are from a dialogue between a clerk and a customer. What does Maria want to do?

 Listen and read to find out.

Clerk: Hello, The Palace Theatre. How can I help you?

Maria: Hi. I'd like to book two tickets for The Rose, please.

Clerk: OK. When for?

Maria: This Saturday at 6 p.m.

Clerk: I'm sorry but it's sold out for 6 p.m. How about the 9 p.m. show?

Maria: That sounds OK. How much are the tickets?

Clerk: They're £40 each.

Maria: Right, I'd like two, please.

Clerk: Can I have your name, please?

Maria: Maria Ibragimova.

Clerk: Right, Ms Ibragimova, your tickets are booked. You can pick them up at the box office half an hour before the show starts.

Maria: Thank you very much.

Clerk: Enjoy the show!

And answer the questions according to the dialogue.
